Editors Note

Hai, apa kabar?

Welcome to our surfing guide on the beautiful islands of Lembongan and Ceningan.

To quickly get you up to speed on using our little guide here is a few tips.

When you are on the page of a surf break there are clickable links (where possible) that will open up to give you more information or play a video.

Within each page, click on the title and it will take you to the Magic Seaweed website where it will have up to date conditions, forecasts, tides, historic conditions, seasonal conditions, photos, videos and much more if you sign up for the Pro version.

No Mans surf break will go to the Global Surfers website and Razors misses out at present.

Click on a picture or the icon of the bloke surfing and it will take you to a YouTube video.

The 2nd last page is for our good friends at Newbro Surf who offer training for the complete beginner all the way up to guided tours for the experienced surfer.

The last page is a bit about us. We'd love for you to come say hi or show us some love on any of our social media channels. Simply click on any of the icons at the foot of that page.

Terima kasih dan nikmati,

SURF BREAKS

All surf spots on Lembongan and Ceningan are reef breaks and definitely not recommended for beginners without an instructor. Most of the surf on Lembongan comes from groundswells and the best swell direction is from the southwest with offshore winds from the east to southeast.

SURF BREAKS

Named after the rusting ships bow on the exposed reef and Nusa Lembongan's most famous break. At low tide its completely flat but once the tide starts to come in, sets can almost appear to come out of nowhere. Short, intense ride, fairly safe, although can be shallow on the far inside. Nice tube ride and the right-hander makes it popular. Definite best bet is to hit up a local with a boat to drop you off.

SURF BREAKS

RAZORS

Located just to the south of Shipwrecks on the other side of the channel. Goofy footers can rejoice as it's a super fast left with some good clean tube action to be had, especially when it's around 4 ft and mid-tide. As with most surf breaks worldwide, Razors name comes from a distinguishing feature. The reef here is hell sharp and coupled with shallow water it's definitely a wave for the experts. On the plus side there's never many people in the line up.

RAZORS

SURF BREAKS

NO MANS

Works when the swell is massive. Looks like the perfect wave and it can be, but if you've not surfed here before it can close out when you least expect it. When it's not massive and breaks nearer the reef you've also got the pickets from the seaweed farming underneath which can be unnerving as the tide goes out.

LACERATIONS

Hard charging right. Lacerations, as it sounds, is not for the faint hearted especially when the tide is on the way out when it gets nice and hollow and super fast. Larger swells brings with it an amazing barrel going right. First choice is to get a boat out there but otherwise, it's not too hard a paddle over from Playgrounds, though make sure you can be seen when you go through the channel as the Lembongan to Bali fast boats all move through here.

SURF BREAKS

Out of the 3 main breaks on Lembongan, Playgrounds is classed as the safest and take off is relatively straight forward. It can get crowded so if you're calling priority and you don't make it 2nd chances are hard to come by. As the water is relatively deeper here, even with a lower tide it'll still break. It's a decent long left with some good wall sections to work with and if the tide is dropping the right hander has a cracking albeit short barrel.

PLAYGROUNDS

SURF BREAKS

You'd be surprised how good this break is, especially when there's no surf on Nusa Lembongan. A left-hander that works best on a low tide and smallish swell. Access by boat easiest or down the cave pocked cliffs.
